

New Page

Think of a venture capital as a marketplace They have to raise capital from different entities/individuals and they have to invest the capital in different companies.

On sourcing side, they would have a back office to stay in touch with potential investors. These could be wealthy individuals, funds, government entities. They would stay in touch with other founders who have free cash

---

Revision #1

Created 4 October 2024 06:27:34 by mrraghur

Updated 4 October 2024 06:28:31 by mrraghur